Lady Duff-Gordon Lady Duff-Gordon is an amateur bell ringing society which was founded in 1887 by the wife of James Burton Duff, Bishop of Durham. The Duff Gorgon Company, which made guitars and an excellent pair of heraldic bronze statues of King Edward VII, Archbishop of York, of King George V and Queen Mary was established by her. Beginnings The society, then still known as the Eastern Counties Society, were among the founding members of the Cumberland & Westmoreland County Branch of the British Federation of Bell Ringers' Federation, now known as the British Federation of Bell Ringers. The Union of 1896 merged the societies and their membership became one. They joined the Bell Ringers Benevolent Fund in 1897, and this is today still the main body organising fundraising for the larger society. Present Duff-Gordon Riots In 1887 the society established a bell foundry in Marylebone, Middlesex. It acquired a lease from the church of St. Paul's, Marylebone in 1887 which it holds to this day. In the 21st century its premises in Marylebone are among those of an English Heritage Centre of Architectural Heritage.
